Special services today at the Unitarian Church at Hingham, will mark the commemoration of the 240th anniversary of the church. The pastor, the Rev. Houghton Paige will deliver the sermon.

Firemen Battle Big South End Blaze

Following that the flames swept through the first floor, into the establishment of the Standard Bottling and Extract Company at 73 Harvard street and the entire Harvard street front of the building, and then swept upward in quick succession to the floors above, occupied by a number of concerns and housing large quantities of inflammable materials, acids and alcohol used in the manufacture of tonics, ginger ale and soda water.

Patrolman Upset by Flame

Patrolman Clarence A. Lewis of the Lagrange street station was walking past the Parker establishment when the explosion tore the door from its hinges, hurling it with terrific force within a few feet of him. A sheet of flame shot from the doorway and the shock upset the patrolman in the street. He had just sounded his duty call from the patrol box within eight yards of the Parker doorway. He recovered his feet and sounded the first alarm for the fire from Box 1492, on the opposite corner, at 6:44 p. m.

With the arrival of the fire apparatus it was evident that the firemen had a stubborn fight on their hands, for the flames were belching from the first three floors of the building extending 100 feet along Albany and Harvard streets and were also pouring from the areaway between the structure and the tenement houses fronting on Hudson street.

A second alarm was sounded immediately followed by a third twenty minutes later and a fourth 10 minutes following that.

Forced to Ring Fourth Alarm

For nearly an hour the firemen battled with the flames, keeping them confined to the first three floors, but at 8:30 o'clock it regained headway and swept upward to the fourth and fifth floors and the situation looked so serious that Acting Chief Thomas Downey ordered another alarm sounded from a nearby box. This brought additional apparatus, but a smaller number of pieces than a fifth or general alarm would have brought to the scene.

Break Up Church Services

Soon after the firemen arrived it was apparent that there was danger of the fire getting beyond the confines of the doomed structure and about 20 families on Hudson street, in the tenement houses numbered 60, 62, 64 and 66, were ordered to vacate without delay. The congregation of the Greek Orthodox Church, just to the west of the building, was in the midst of a New Year's service and the police ordered them to leave the edifice at once. There was a tendency toward a panic, but the Rev. Solomon Fermeny, who was in the midst of his sermon, urged the 450 parishioners to be calm and they filed in orderly fashion into the street.

Firemen Overcome by Smoke

Dense clouds of smoke, permeated with pungent fumes due to the large quantities of acids and alcohol on the premises, swept down into the streets and filled the tenements along Hudson, Tyler, Albany and other streets in the vicinity as far as Kneeland street. The police, fearing that many might be overcome, ordered more than 100 families to leave until the smoke cleared.

In fighting the flames the firemen were handicapped by the heavy smoke and a score or more were overcome and forced to give up the battle until they recovered. On account of smoke inhalation none required hospital treatment, however.

Narrow Escape as Tank Explodes

A few firemen were slightly injured and a score of firemen handling hose lines in the rear of the building narrowly escaped serious injury when a tank of carbonate of soda exploded nearby, shattering the hose lines and spilling the firemen down the stairs. Several sustained bruises and lacerations, but they continued their fight.

Cornelius J. Sullivan, 40, of 89 Henley street, Charlestown, attached to Engine 8, was cut on both hands by falling glass and treated at the City Hospital. Jeremiah T. Cronin, 36 years old, of 30 Prospect street, Charlestown, attached to Ladder 8, was burned by acid when a carboy exploded while he was handling an axe on the fifth floor. His eyes were injured and his face burned. He was treated at the City Hospital, but later returned to the fire. Patrick Murphy, attached to Engine 26, sustained a cut in the cheek from flying glass and was treated by a surgeon at the fire.

Two Concerns Hard Hit

The entire building, from the street floor to the roof, was destroyed. The losses were heaviest to the Standard Bottling & Extract Company, occupying the Harvard street side of the building; the S. G. Parker Company; the Trimont Press, printers of tickets; the George W. Capen Company, manufacturers of decorative novelties.

The Parker Company lost machinery said by General Manager Flynn to be worth not less than $75,000. The Standard Bottling and Extract Company also lost valuable machinery. The losses of both concerns may possibly reach $200,000, in addition to the losses of other firms and damage to the building.

In Peril at All Times

Large quantities of chemicals, carbonate of soda, alcohol and other inflammables made the work of the firemen perilous in the extreme and a number of explosions occurred during the height of the fire. The flames were fed by these inflammables, making it a particularly difficult fire to conquer. A great tank of alcohol, located on the third floor of the Parker establishment was expected to explode at most any time, but the tank burst and the contents spread out over the floor, giving new impetus to the fire.

The blaze was very spectacular, the entire building being weirdly illuminated from top to bottom at times, tongues of fire shooting half-way across Harvard and Albany streets. At times scores of firemen directing streams into the upper windows were forced to leave their ladders as flames enveloped them, and there was a rush to save the ladders from destruction.

Tremendous Volume of Water

Water towers lined up against the building on the Harvard and Albany street sides and together with 40 to 50 hose lines poured thousands of tons of water into the building. At one time water so filled the building that it ran from the windows on the first, second and third floors. The streets surrounding were flooded with water at times to a depth of nearly a foot.

From almost every window of the tenement houses at the west of the building lines of hose played into the furnace and even from the roof and auditorium of the Greek Church other lines were manned. Still others played from the building to the south.

Cause Not Determined

Besides the damage caused to the burning building much damage was done by water leaking from the hose lines in the tenement houses, the firemen taking possession of their homes for fire-fighting purposes.

The cause of the fire was undetermined last night. That it started with an explosion there is little doubt, and it was quite apparent that it started in or near the offices of the S. G. Parker Company, though it may have started in the basement.

P. J. Flynn, general manager of the Parker company, declared last night that he was at a loss to explain the fire, asserting that there was no inflammables or explosives in the company's office. He made the suggestion that the fire may have been caused by safe-breakers attempting to blow the safes in the office, using nitroglycerine or some other powerful explosive.

Spread With Amazing Speed

This theory was disposed of late in the night by the police, working under the direction of Captain Mathew J. Daily of the Lagrange street station, who were ordered to conduct a thorough investigation. As soon as the fire was under control they examined the premises of the Parker company, and those of the Standard Bottling & Extract Company on the first floor and found that the safes were intact and seemingly had not been tampered with.

The rapidity with which the fire spread from the time it was discovered by Patrolman Lewis was startling. In less than five minutes it had spread the whole length of the building on Albany street about 100 feet, and fully as far along Harvard street. It was evidently assisted, according to Chief Walsh, by elevator shafts leading to the upper floors. Chief Walsh expressed the opinion that the doors to the shafts may have been open.

Reaches Inflammables

On the second floor the flames encountered large quantities of excelsior and other packing materials, mostly in bales, and this gave the fire its terrific start for the roof. Then it reached the tanks of chemicals and alcohol on the floors above and when it hit the fourth floor swept with lightning-like speed over the whole area, this floor having been occupied by the Capen Novelty Company with great quantities of paint, varnish, wood and flimsy materials used in the manufacture of decorative novelties.

Under Control at 11 O'Clock

It was at this stage of the fire that the supplementary fifth alarm from an adjacent box was sounded, and before the apparatus thus called arrived the flames had swept to the top story, destroying the printing establishment.

The building is one of the largest in the immediate vicinity, being owned by the Bond estate.

At 11 o'clock the fire was under control, but it was long after midnight before the firemen deemed it safe to give up, and a watch was kept all night.

A TENSE MOMENT DURING THE FOUR-ALARM FIRE LAST NIGHT.

The fire, which was one of the most stubborn that the department has had to fight for some time, at times threatened to sweep to adjoining buildings.

SUPER-SPY IS ON WAY HOME

Departure for Bremen Kept Secret

NEW YORK, Jan. 1.—Franz von Rintelen, former German agent, is at sea, bound for his native land. His departure yesterday aboard the steamship Susquehanna for Bremen became known here tonight.

Von Rintelen was released from the federal prison at Atlanta Nov. 26 after President Wilson had pardoned him on condition that he leave the United States by Jan. 1. Since then he has been staying with friends in New Jersey.

Von Rintelen's departure was carried out with considerable secrecy and his name did not appear on the steamship's passenger list. He reported at the office of the United States district attorney here yesterday and was escorted aboard the ship by federal agents soon before sailing time.

18 MEN DRUNK—SOME FROM WOOD ALCOHOL

A total of 18 men were taken in tow for drunkenness yesterday by the police of the East Dedham street station. Seven of the men were taken to the City Hospital suffering from wood alcohol poisoning. Five of the wood alcohol victims were taken out of a house on Northampton street, the number of which the police would not disclose. None of the wood alcohol cases was considered critical, and one of the victims disappeared from the hospital shortly after he had been treated. He slipped away when left alone for a short time.

Deny Knowledge of De Valera's Arrival

the loss of the lives of the troops, and it is said this desire might include De Valera as the source of the funds.

There would be no difficulty in De Valera remaining hidden here as long as he chooses, as there are many persons who would not risk harboring the average suspect who would give him asylum. The expectation is that if De Valera is in Dublin he first will consult his intimates and then make known his presence and await arrest.

LONDON SCEPTICAL

Public Curiosity, However, Much Aroused by Report of De Valera's Arrival

LONDON, Jan. 1.—Reports that Eamon De Valera has landed in Ireland have greatly piqued public curiosity, and confirmation of the rumors is eagerly awaited.

Newspapers feature the statement of Harry Boland, secretary to De Valera, that "the President" has arrived safely in Ireland, but none has succeeded in ascertaining De Valera's whereabouts, nor received any news relative to the Sinn Fein leader beyond what has been cabled from New York.

In some quarters there is much scepticism regarding the whole story, and Dublin Castle's profession of ignorance relative to De Valera's landing encourages doubt in the accuracy of the report. On the other hand, there are many who see no improbability in the story, and who speculate on De Valera's purpose in coming to Ireland.

These, assuming it was possible for the Irish leader to escape the vigilance of watchers, are inclined to believe the government did not oppose his coming, holding that De Valera, as an elected member of Parliament, was entitled to avail himself of the invitation recently extended to Irish members of Parliament to confer with the government as to means of reaching an agreement on the Irish problem.

The Daily Graphic expresses the opinion that, taken in conjunction with the pacific attitude of Irish Catholic prelates, De Valera's appearance would be a potent of good rather than evil.

The Evening News says that word of De Valera's arrival in Ireland caused a sensation in Dublin. His intimate political friends, however, could not be induced to admit even the probability of his having landed, the newspaper adds.

GUARD AMERICAN SHIP

Rigid Watch Over Pontia by Military—Overhaul Cargo in Search for Weapons—Doubt De Valera Was Aboard Vessel When She Docked

DUBLIN, Jan. 1 (By the Associated Press).—The American steamer Pontia, which arrived here Friday from New York, and which was immediately searched by the military, was still under a strong guard of armed soldiers today. The crew remained aboard. Admission to the ship was refused to all other persons.

This morning the captain of the Pontia was permitted to go ashore on business connected with the ship, but when he returned the sentry on duty refused to permit him to pass. The captain sent a written request to the officer of the guard, who allowed him to go aboard the Pontia again.

The cargo of the Pontia is being overhauled to see if the vessel has been used for gun running.

The dock workers have declined to unload the Pontia while the soldiers remain on board. If the troops leave the steamer the dockers will discharge the cargo, which the military can then search ashore.

The crew has been carefully examined. It is considered that there was no possibility that De Valera was on board the vessel when she docked in Dublin. It is suggested that he might have got ashore during the time the vessel was being piloted to the quay.

Mrs. De Valera, who is in Dublin, has declined to be interviewed.

Greenwood Optimistic

Irish Secretary Hopes to See Both Irish Parliaments and the Central Council Functioning in Six Months

LONDON, Jan. 1.—Sir Hamar Greenwood, chief secretary for Ireland, today amplified his optimistic statement on the Irish situation made last night at a dinner tonight given in honor of the Cornell cross-country team.

In his speech on that occasion he declared that the two Irish parliaments provided for by the recently enacted home rule bill would be working within six months.

"So far as Ulster is concerned," he told newspaper correspondents today, "candidates are already being selected, and it is possible that the ministers of the first Ulster cabinet are being talked about.

"I hope it will be possible to have both parliaments elected on the same day, so they may be able to start together, and that the council, which is a central body composed of representatives of both parliaments, can get on with its all-Ireland work as soon as possible."

Pickets Protect Derry Watch Night Services

BELFAST, Jan. 1.—A unique spectacle was witnessed in Londonderry early this morning when the congregations from the watch-night services were escorted to their homes by fully-armed military pickets.

The curfew law is in operation in Londonderry, and special permission was obtained from the general commanding the military district for holding the midnight services. Persons living outside the city were escorted to the last military post and from there sent home.

HEAVY SENTENCES FOR HAVING ARMS

LONDONDERRY, Ireland, Jan. 1.—The rigor with which the authorities are enforcing the law against the possession of arms was shown here today when a court-martial sentenced a man to seven years penal servitude for possession of a revolver and 75 rounds of cartridges.

A solicitor was sentenced to six months' imprisonment for possession of five rounds of ammunition.

OVATION IS GIVEN MRS. M'SWINEY

Starts for Ireland With Message for De Valera

NEW YORK, Jan. 1.—Mrs. Muriel MacSwiney, widow of the late Lord Mayor of Cork, sailed from America today, carrying to Eamon De Valera, President of the Irish republic a message that "all is well" among the sympathizers with his cause in this country.

SENT BY BOLAND

This message to the Sinn Fein leader was sent by his secretary, Harry Boland, who announced yesterday that his chief had landed in Erin to direct the Irish fight for independence, after spending 18 months in the United States.

Several hundred Irish sympathizers surrounded Mrs. MacSwiney as she entered the pier to go on board the steamship Panhandle State, bearing aloft the three-striped banners of Ireland's republic. New York's "Fighting 69th" Regiment Band serenaded her, and the crowd sang Irish airs.

Nine little girls costumed in green, orange and white escorted Mrs. MacSwiney up the gangplank and into her steamer suite, fragrant with roses sent by many admirers.

Mrs. MacSwiney said the expressions of sympathy she had received in America had carried sunshine "into the very depths of the sorrow" brought by her husband's death.

In a farewell message she called upon America "speedily to relieve the devastation of Ireland and help it to stand by your side, a free and independent nation."

She pictured Ireland as "the victim of such cruelty and crime that even its tormentors condemn themselves as they strike; where no home is safe from the firebrand and ravisher, and no person is sure of his life from day to day—all this because she seeks to walk in the path of liberty, which the United States first made."

Photographs of the late lord mayor of Cork and his widow were sold in the streets and appeared to be in great demand. The band stationed itself in front of a warehouse at the northeast corner of Tenth avenue and 34th street, and played in intervals between speeches, which were made to help the time pass before the arrival of Mrs. MacSwiney and her party.

A few minutes after 1 o'clock the party arrived in three automobiles. Accompanying Mrs. MacSwiney were Harry Boland, secretary to Eamonn De Valera, president of the Irish republic; James Burke, Mr. and Mrs. Brandon Tynan, the Rev. Father Timothy Shanley, St. John Gaffney, Miss Hope Fitzgerald, Mrs. James Walsh, Joseph Begley and Catherine Flanagan. Sergeant Mike Donaldson and Miss Agnes Tansey were in the first car. They described themselves as the "escort extraordinary."

De Valera in Ireland, Says Vigilance Society

LONDON, Jan. 1.—Eamon De Valera is in Ireland, where "he enjoyed his share of the Christmas goose," was a statement made today at a meeting of the Irish Vigilance Society by Tim McNulty, who presided.

Servant Problem in Beethoven's Time

VIENNA, Jan. 1.—That the servant problem is not of recent date is proved by a testimonial written in Beethoven's own handwriting, which, with many other interesting documents bearing on the famous composer's life, is published in a Beethoven jubilee book celebrating the 150th anniversary of his birth.

The document reads:

"I certify that Therese Kaufmann has been in my employ as chamber maid for a whole month and has profed herself honest and well-behaved during this time. Vienna, March 17, 1823. Ludwig van Beethoven."

WHEN ILL HEALTH OR HARD TIMES HIT YOU, DON'T LIE DOWN

It is the man who can "come-back" that is the man worth while

It is said that about ninety per cent of men fail between the ages of 35 and 50 and very few ever "COME BACK."

A good reason for many of these failures is plain. As man approaches middle age THE IRON IN HIS BLOOD IS APT TO THIN OUT and he then lacks the necessary iron in his body to give him the force, strength and vitality; the "IRON-WILL" and "iron determination" to carry him on to success. In his own mind HE ALWAYS THINKS HE IS GOING TO "COME BACK," but he is like a crippled deer that rises up on its four legs after being shot, only to fall back again.

EVERY DOCTOR knows the tremendous power of an IRON WILL to pull a patient through a critical illness. With an iron will, it often seems that nothing can kill you. Without it, a patient sometimes speedily collapses and dies from an apparently trivial cause.

Lack of iron in your blood not only undermines your health and robs you of your bodily and mental vigor but it weakens your WILL POWER. Without iron ALL THE "FIGHT," COURAGE and "GO AHEAD" in you is taken out and you begin to think it is "all over"—there's nothing more for you in life.

DON'T TRY TO "FOOL" YOURSELF INTO THINKING YOU ARE A KEEN 100% IRON MAN WHEN YOU HAVE REASON TO SUSPECT THAT YOU ARE NOT.

Iron starvation of your blood may be the cause of all your troubles. How to tell is explained in the accompanying article.

WITHOUT IRON YOUR BLOOD ALSO LOSES ITS POWER TO CHANGE FOOD INTO LIVING CELLS AND TISSUE and nothing you eat does you the proper amount of good—you do not get the full strength out of it. In fact sometimes the more you eat the more you starve, as your digestive organs are unable to handle much food when your blood lacks iron and you often think you have stomach trouble, when it isn't that at all. Simply eat less and take iron. There are 30,000,000,000,000 Red Blood Corpuscles in your blood and each one must have iron.

DON'T TRY TO "FOOL YOURSELF" into thinking you are a man of "blood and iron" when you have good reason to suspect that you are not, anyway let your doctor decide. Get him to make a "blood count" of your red blood corpuscles and SEE WHETHER YOU ARE A 50 PER CENT, A 75 PER CENT OR A 100 PER CENT IRON MAN. Or if you do not want to go to this trouble eat more spinach and other iron-containing vegetables for two weeks and take organic iron like Nuxated Iron with them and at the end of that time see for yourself how much more strength, power and endurance you have. Nuxated Iron positively helps enrich your blood and put iron into it. It often increases your bodily and mental vigor in two weeks time and quickly helps revitalize your wornout exhausted nerves. There is nothing like filling your blood with good old iron to give you the courage, strength and force to fight the battles of life. NUXATED IRON is organic iron like the iron in your blood and not metallic or mineral iron which people usually take. The fact that you may have taken other forms of iron without benefit does not prove Nuxated Iron will not help you.—Try it on our guarantee below.
